

The Ransom

(A musical interpretation of the passion and resurrection of Christ)

Words and music by Keith Miller

Onward to Jerusalem
Flanked by twelve stout-hearted men
All committed to seeing it through
But one, a traitor ...

And Jesus knew
He knew
Jesus knew

Taken from Gethsemane
Bound and beaten sore was He Flogged, insulted, given some pain
Then flogged, insulted ...

And beaten again
Again
And again
and again
and again

(Instrumental)

Pilate found in Him no wrong
Still the crowd was growing stronger and stronger
Crucify Him! That was their cry
Crucify Him! ...

This Jesus must die
Must die
He must die

But you can't crush a good man
He wouldn't stay dead
And He rose on the third day
Just like He said
He is coming in glory
So be not afraid
Keep your eyes fixed upon Him ...

No you can't crush a good man
He just wouldn't stay dead
And He rose on the third day
Just like He said
He is coming in glory
So be not afraid
Keep your eyes fixed upon Him ...
The ransom is paid
Is paid
He has paid
