

Background notes

*This is not the story of how I met Jesus ... though it could have been.
In the main, it's a strong message packaged with a heavy sprinkling of humour and a few oblique bible references. Listen out for the "Wombles" influence in the tune.*

Trust In Me

Words and music by Keith Miller

Hey you are you coming with me?
I've got a special friend I want you to see
I met Him in the market just the other week
And something happened to me when I heard Him speak
He said "Hey you, can I come round for tea?"
There was a hundred of us there but He picked on me
"Put your trust in me"

That's what He told me ...

As we reached my house I had a lot on my mind
I looked into the larder to see what I could find
I found a sliced brown loaf and a couple of fish
And I said "This isn't gonna make us much of a dish"
He said "Don't you fret, you know I've done this before
A couple o' thousand years ago on Galilee's shore ...
Put your trust in me"

That's what He told me ...

(Instrumental)

As He broke my bread and drank my tea
I felt a funny change come over me
It's like He cut me open and He rummaged about
He put His Spirit in and took the bad bits out
He said "Hey you, now I've set you free,
Tell everyone you meet what you know about me,
Put your trust in me"

That's what He told me ...

So if you haven't met Him yourself
For a start you'd better get your bible down from the shelf
Just read a little bit and then get down on your knees
And ask the Lord to speak to you like He spoke to me
He says "Hey there, yes I'm talking to you
You'll never want for anything when I get through
Put your trust in me"
"Hey you with your hands in your pockets
Plug into the power and I don't mean sockets
Put your trust in me"
That's what He's saying
"Put your trust in me"
Why are you waiting?
"Put your trust in me"
Zap be dap – be dah be doo wop
"Put your trust in me".
